

TITLE OF JOB: CFO

LOCATION: Southeast

POSTED: January 2019

SUMMARY: Chief Financial Officer opportunity at a billion-dollar restaurant group with multiple brands. Functional and practical implications are consistent with private equity ownership. Reporting disciplines and control requirements include all elements of being a public company.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

- Reporting to the Chief Executive Officer, the CFO must be a hands-on, operations-oriented finance executive.
- He/she will lead and manage the complete finance function including liquidity management, capital structure, financial planning and analysis, budgeting, forecasting, financial and management reporting and accounting/internal controls.
- The CFO will interact with the private equity investors and other external constituents to represent the company in financial and business matters.
- The CFO will work closely with the CEO to build and strengthen the company's finance function, making structural recommendations where necessary.

REQUIREMENTS:

- Prior experience serving as a standalone company CFO with restaurant company having revenues of at least $500 million. Consideration will also be given to broadly experienced senior finance executives from larger-scale and complex multi-state operational organizations.
- Strategic, "results-driven" finance instincts and business acumen. Equally capable on both strategic and operational levels. Can effectively partner with CEO and private equity partners.
- Strong executive presence and crisp communication skills. Must represent the organization well with owners and suppliers along with internal and outside constituents.
